As a chef, I believe that the right wine not only enhances the dish but also elevates the culinary experience as a whole. I have been interested in wine for a long time and have also completed many a wine course. For my Chef's Selections I wanted to give you an insight into some of my favourite producers and their wines.

Of course, as a proud Aussie there was always going to be a healthy amount of wine from down under which really showcase what the Australian wine scene is doing at the moment, but also some of my favourite wines from around the rest of the world as well.

I do hope you will enjoy exploring through my choices and seeing what I like to drink and I hope you enjoy your experience with us.

Cheers!

Head Chef
